THE GLOVER-EDDY LAW SUITS

Decision In Courts Will Determine Question
"Is Christian Science a Charity?"

As the result of the answers recently filed in court in Concord by the executor of Mrs. Eddy and the directors of the Christian Science Church in Boston, there is likely to be a decision made by the New Hampshire courts; possibly by the United States Supreme Court, which decision will much interest the public. The decision will determine what the religion of Christian Science is, whether before the law the society stands as only a religion like other denominations, or whether it is a special charity to be helped and protected as such by the courts more favorably than it would be if it were only a religion; or whether instead of being either a religion or a charity it is only a medical organization endeavoring to cure physical diseases.

WOULD ENLARGE COUNTY JAIL

Appropriation Is Voted To Remedy the Present Crowded Conditions

At the annual gathering and dinner of the Rockingham county representatives in the legislature, which took place at the county farm at Brentwood, it was voted to appropriate $20,000 for the enlargement of the jail there. The appropriations for the county purposes was the same as two years ago, $85,500. The need of a larger jail were forcibly brought before the solons by many of the prominent citizens, and former officers of the county.

Former Sheriff Marcus M. Collis of Portsmouth and Judge Alfred D. Emery of Auburn were emphatic in their suggestions, and stated many facts in regard to the present jail conditions.

The conditions are much cramped, it is said. Commissioner George S. Carlisle of Exeter said that there are thirty cells, and by putting two in one cell there would still be so many who would necessarily be placed with the paupers. It is frequently the case that many of the prisoners are compelled to be so placed owing to the lack of room.

What is needed is a larger jail say those in charge, equipped with steel cells of the most modern design. The delegation also visited the different buildings, and inspected them, where it was discovered that some of them were also in need of repairs. A new barn has been erected there during the past year.

GOVERNMENT WILL HELP OUT

Offers an Incentive To Build the Big State Armory Here

It is learned through official channels that if an armory is built here for the Coast Artillery, the United States government stands ready to install a dummy twelve inch gun with all equipment at an expense of several thousand dollars, all of which would be a valuable acquisition to the city.

A hearing on Representative Stoddard's bill for a $130,000 state armory in Portsmouth will be held at 1.30 Tuesday afternoon at Concord, and Portsmouth should have a representation there.

Dade will Now Face Court Martial On the Cruiser Washington

Through the efforts of his father, Frank Dade of the U. S. S. Washington, who was charged with the larceny of Carl Brothers' back, has been released from the county jail and has been returned to the ship. His release was brought about in a conference of Judge Simes, the returning county solicitor, Charles H. Hatchelder, the incoming solicitor, E. L. Guptill, and Mr. Carl on Saturday afternoon. It is understood that Dade will face a court martial board on the vessel as the result of his fast ride on Monday, Feb. 6.

TO ABOLISH PLUCKING BOARD

Washington, Feb. 12.—A vital defect in the system of the annual compulsory retirement of naval officers on the recommendation of the "plucking board," made up of senior rear admirals, has been discovered by the house naval committee. That board meets each June for the purpose of selecting or of recommending the transfer from the active to the retired list of officers of various grades to make up a stipulated number of vacancies by July 1. The sessions of the "plucking board" are held behind closed doors, and nothing has ever been divulged regarding its methods until during the last few days the house committee called on the department for information concerning the retirement of Commodore (later Captain) Ten Eyck De Witt Veeder, who belongs to one of the old New York families, as his name implies.

Commodore Veeder was considered one of the prominent and useful officers of the navy, and his retirement last year was a surprise. He at once filed a protest against the action of the retiring board and took steps to have himself restored to the active list, where it was proposed to carry him as an additional number in which status it would not be possible to disturb him hereafter by the action of the "plucking board." Commodore Veeder alleged that the retiring board did not have at its disposal in considering his service record all the facts of his career, and the house naval committee has ascertained that, while the board called for the service record of Veeder, through some oversight the report on stress from the departmental archives did not include a period of some four months in 1908, during which time he was in command of a special service squadron.

The admission of this failure to furnish the board with the complete record in Veeder's case has led the naval committee to recommend legislation restoring Veeder to the active list, although three Republican members of the committee—Messrs. Lousenslager, Butler and Roberts—are opposed to the restoration and expressed their adverse views in a minority report. It is expected that this combination of conflicting circumstances will serve to make something of an issue of the bill, which, if enacted, would operate as a precedent for restoring to the active list other officers whose retirement was forced, and who undoubtedly entertain the honest belief that the board did not have before it all the information which might have prevented such premature termination of their active careers in the navy.

For this reason the naval authorities deplore the committee sentiment in favor of Commodore Veeder. At all events it is apprehended that this incident may lead to some interesting discussion in Congress as to the method of selecting naval officers for retirement. There has been more or less prejudice in Congress, as well as in the navy itself, against what is described in some quarters as "star chamber" proceedings, under circumstances which prevent the officer most interested from being heard in his own behalf or from having his interests represented by an attorney. That privilege is accorded army officers who are now being ordered before a retiring board in Washington for the consideration of alleged temperamental disqualifications. The situation may lead to some legislation which shall define the grounds necessary to compulsory retirement of naval officers.

SANG DURING OPERATION

Physician Dr. W. Wayne Babcock, at the Samaritan Hospital, operated on sixteen-year-old Edna Ford, an Atlantic City girl, for the removal of the appendix, Saturday the girl exhibited wily resistance with the nurses and surgeons grouped about the operating table and finally burst into song.

The young patient was under the influence of novatin, an anesthetic which is the private prescription of Dr. Babcock and similar to stovaine, the anesthetic used by Dr. Jonesen the famous Roumanian surgeon, which paralyzes the sense of feeling but does not make the patient unconscious.

Physicians who were present at the operation say that while the girl gave one of the greatest demonstrations of nerve that they have ever witnessed in a surgical ward the operation also was a triumph for the anesthetic, which, injected into the spine, destroys the sense of pain but permits the patient to laugh and chat with the surgeons as they wield the knife.

The needle was inserted between the vertebrae of the spinal column, and in a moment the spinal cord was numbed by the powerful drug. The girl smiled in contentment at the cessation of pain. She was advised to keep a stout heart.

"Oh, that's all right," she nodded with a smile. "I don't mind now, for it doesn't hurt."

While Dr. Babcock and his assistants worked with skilled fingers the girl lay with upturned face wreathed in smiles, and joked first with the doctor and then with the nurses. Suddenly the silence of the operating room was broken by the clear, sweet notes of a girlish soprano. Slowly but firmly the girl began and continued with unwavering tones to the completion of the song.

By the time she had completed the song, the doctors, too, had ended their work, and the patient was wheeled from the room to her cot. She was strong after the operation and will have an early recovery, the surgeons say.

THEATRICAL TOPICS

Messrs. Shubert to Entertain Orphans in accordance with their annual custom the Messrs. Shubert, managers of the N. Y. Hippodrome, will entertain the children of the orphan asylums in greater New York at several matinee performances next week. Among the institutions which will send their small charges to witness the circus and spectacles at the N. Y. Hippodrome are the Helms Orphan Asylum, Roman Catholic Asylum of the Dominican Convent, Helms Sheltering and Guardian Society, the Darach Home for Crippled Children, Sacred Heart Convent Orphan Asylum and the Home for Destitute Crippled Children. When the Messrs. Shubert took the direction of the big playhouse they arranged for the entertainment of orphan children on several consecutive matinee days in the early spring of their first season, since which time they have kept up the custom. More than 10,000 orphans have witnessed the Hippodrome show during the four years' incumbency of the present management.

"The Red Mill"
Fresh from its triumphs of a year's run at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York City, followed by engagements of three months each in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, Martin & Emery's Co.'s complete production of the Henry Blossom and Victor Herbert comic opera masterpiece, "The Red Mill," will be seen at the Music Hall on Feb. 27.

In collaborating, Messrs. Blossom and Herbert have had the extraordinary good fortune of not only duplicating their former success "Mlle. Modiste" but have in "The Red Mill" one that will far exceed it in many ways.

The story is to the point, describing the trouble in which two American tourists find themselves after spending their money too recklessly, after which they unconsciously prove heroes in rescuing a persecuted maiden from an obdurate parent by entering the mill on the blades of a revolving fan, in which manner they escape with the girl on to the ground and restore her to her lover.

Victor Herbert has composed a score of whistle-blowing kind of music which has already gone through the country with telling effect. Messrs. Martin & Emery have provided an admirable company of some fifty people and have faithfully reproduced scenes and costumes of quaint and picturesque Holland.

The cast includes James Crawley, news.

The most effective and harmless way to cure the Grippe or break a severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, is a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel the cold breaking and all gripe symptoms going after the very first dose. It promptly relieves the most miserable aching pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic aching.

Take this harmless Compound as there's no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

After three years' research we have conclusively demonstrated that quinine is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

as Con Kidder, Win. Moore as Kid Connor, and Vernice Martyn as Tina, the tar maid. A chorus of forty and the six little Dutch Kiddies, also an augmented orchestra.

The Time, The Place and The Girl
Says the Halifax Echo on "The Time, The Place and The Girl," which will appear in this city at Music Hall Feb. 23:

From the reception accorded it at the Academy of Music last evening, the musical comedy "The Time, The Place and The Girl," will have a most successful engagement in Halifax. Despite the very disagreeable weather a very large audience was present and judging from the applause that greeted the various numbers, the show was thoroughly enjoyed by all. It abounds in catchy music and good clean comedy throughout. The chorus though not very large is strong, and well balanced. The principals and supporting members of the cast are clever and all possess good voices.

Miss Jessie Webster, though still in her teens, is a mighty clever little actress, her interpretation of Margaret Simpson, the Girl, was most excellent and she scored a distinct success. Her greatest triumph was "Dixie, I Love You," sung with the chorus in the second act. Miss Webster's singing and dancing captivated the audience and she was called back five times.

Miss Celia Mavis in the role of Molly Kelly, and Miss Rose Deianter as Mrs. Talcott were both excellent. Miss Mavis' solo "I'm Lonely Tonight," and Miss Deianter's singing of "The Waning Honeymoon" are among the best numbers.

Donald McKenzie as Tom Cunningham and Herbert Morrison as Laurie Farnham were both exceedingly good, and Mr. Morrison's song "Blow the Smoke Away" was very well sung.

"Happy Johnny Hicks, a gambler," provides a very large amount of the comedy and as portrayed by Thomas Cameron, leaves nothing to be desired. Mr. Morrison kept the audience in roars of laughter. He is a comedian above the average and can also sing well, a fact which he demonstrated when he sang "Thursday always was my Jonah day."

"The Time, The Place and The Girl" will be at the Academy of Music for the rest of the week, with a matinee on Saturday.

KEEPS DEATH BED PROMISE

Maine Woman Takes Life of Her Son and Self

HUSBAND HAD JUST DIED

Compact Carried Out a Few Hours
After He Passes Away—Had Agreed
That Burdens Were Too Heavy to Bear—Request That Husband and Wife Be Buried in One Casket Will Be Fulfilled

Oxford, Me., Feb. 13.—In fulfillment of a compact made during her husband's illness, which was found yesterday signed by both, Mrs. Lynnwood S. Keene, wife of a formerly prosperous farmer here, shot her 14-year-old son Gerald as he lay in his bed Sunday morning, and then went to her own room, which she locked, and ended her own life.

It had been agreed between Mr. and Mrs. Keene, according to the compact found in her room, that in the event of Keene's expected death his wife was to "do away" with herself and their child. Keene did Saturday. Mrs. Keene fulfilled her part of the grim contract Sunday.

The boy, Gerald, was still living when persons in the house, mourning over the body of the dead father, went to his room. He had been shot through the temple, the revolver having been held so close to the head of the child—whether while asleep or waking after some farewell word from his mother is unknown—that the hair was singed. The child was unconscious when found, and lived but half an hour after, Dr. H. R. Farris, who had responded to the hurry call, being unable to maintain life. Gerald never regained consciousness.

After finding the lad wounded and dying friends of the family who made the discovery hurried to the room of his mother in the other side of their home. Knocks failed of an answer. Then the door was broken in, and the room within revealed the body of Mrs. Keene stretched in the bed, with a bullet hole through her head. She had placed the revolver to the roof of her mouth and fired. As with the son, there was only one wound. The weapon used, a revolver, was found on the bed by her side, where it had been released by her lifeless fingers.

The death compact was dated about a month ago and the document recited briefly the family's troubles, the result of Keene's illness. In it, his death was predicted, and it was agreed that when this blow came the little family should all go, it being stated that Mr. and Mrs. Keene thought it would be wrong to have their son remain in the world to suffer the troubles they had. So Mrs. Keene bound herself, in the agreement with her dying husband, to "do away" with herself and their son Gerald, as soon as possible after the husband's and father's death.

Then came directions to relatives and friends. Husband and wife wished to be buried in a double casket, and that their son's coffin should be placed in the same box for final interment. So it has been arranged, and the triple burial will take place here next Wednesday, marking the end of a trial family which could not survive misfortune.

When the folk in the village and the nearby countryside learned of the tragedy it was told how happy was the couple, with their strong, likable child, up to a year ago. Then came an illness upon the husband and father which forced him to forsake his work on his farm, which he had purchased only a few months before. Unable to leave his bed, he was unable to add to the family resources.

Soon the end of their money was reached, and Mr. and Mrs. Keene accepted help from relatives, in an effort to keep their home. But when they saw this was futile, funds were raised on the house. This was a great factor in their despair, say friends. Several months ago Keene said he was certain the end was near, and, in fact, he has been expected to die daily for weeks.

TWO MILLION VISITORS

London Looks For Great Influx During Coronation Ceremonies

London, Feb. 13.—Since the beginning of the winter the chief functionaries of the British court have been busily absorbed in preparation for the coronation of King George V, which will surpass in pageantry and in historical interest all former coronations of the character.

Business men and transportation companies count upon an influx of something approaching 2,000,000 visitors to London during the coronation season. A considerable proportion of these will be foreigners, American and Canadians probably predominating.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 13.—The election of United States senators by direct vote of the people is favored by Theodore Roosevelt. In a Lincoln day speech here he came out squarely in favor of the movement.

DEFEAT OF RECIPROCITY

Taft Tells Illinois Legislators It Will Clean Free Trade

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 13.—In an address before a joint session of the Illinois legislature President Taft warned the leaders of his party that if they defeated the concessions contained in the Canadian reciprocity agreement now pending in congress and persisted in retaining in these times of high prices and gradually exhausting food supply a tariff not based solely upon the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, with a reasonable profit to the American producer, opposition would be aroused that would wipe from the statute books the last trace of a protective tariff.

This announcement came on the heels of news from Washington that the reciprocity agreement had met with a favorable report in the house committee on ways and means only by the help of Democratic votes.

President Taft feels keenly the opposition to reciprocity by members of the Republican party, but he is sanguine they will "see the light" before it is too late.

REFUSED HOPE DIAMOND

Miss Gould Was Offered Ill Fated Gem
as a Wedding Present

New York, Feb. 13.—Miss Helen Vivian Gould, now Lady Decies, spurned the ill fated blue gem known as the Hope diamond, when it was suggested by her father as his wedding present to her, nearly two months ago, according to friends of the family.

The stone appeared in New York Dec. 12 at a Fifth avenue jeweler's. It had been brought into the country without the slightest announcement, and, it is hinted, with the intention of effecting a sale to Mr. Gould, who had been heard talking of it as a wedding present for his daughter.

But the suggestions of misery, disaster and blood that follows the diamond proved too much for the prospective bride, and she refused to wear the jewel.

Boulton, Me., Feb. 13.—As a result of a fire which destroyed the dwelling of Alfred Lyons at East Littleton two of Lyons' children died as a result of exposure. His three other children all are in a serious condition, it having been necessary to amputate their frostbitten hands.

The house caught fire while Lyons was at work in the woods and Mrs. Lyons had gone to a neighbor's house for some supplies. When neighbors arrived, after considerable delay, they found the younger twins, who died Saturday afternoon, lying in the snow near the burning dwelling, terribly frozen.

CARVER SEEKS DIVORCE

Wife of "Yale's Strong Man" Asserts
That He Wears Corsets

Reno, Nev., Feb. 13.—It has just come to light that a young man whose strange appearance in dress and actions has created much comment in the little town of Fallon, as he has been spending most of the time alone in the open air garbed in a rough flannel shirt, with feet bandaged, toes out of shoes, barefoot and devoid of necktie, is Charles A. Carver, a Chicago athlete and business man.

He has been known as "Yale's strong man." His wife, it is said, last year made an unsuccessful effort to procure a divorce in the Chicago courts on the ground of failure to provide. He slipped into Nevada and established a legal residence in an out of the way settlement.

His divorce complaint alleges that his wife called him vile names and threatened to shoot him and ruin him in his business. She had him arrested, charging him with being an inmate of the Everleigh club and asserting that he wore corsets.

ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Shields Is Held Without Bail For Shooting Kenney

Ashland, N. H., Feb. 13.—J. W. Shields of Philadelphia, who shot and killed Christie Kenney in a room at Hotel Mouselake, Warren, N. H., was brought before Justice of the Peace Williams at Warren on a charge of murder.

The ancient hall was crowded with eager spectators anxious to catch a glimpse of Shields, who comes from a wealthy and prominent family. A score of witnesses were heard.

Shields was bound over to the May sitting of the superior court at Plymouth without bail.

Archbishop in This Country

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—Serene and prepared to meet his God, whom he had served so well, Most Rev. Patrick J. Ryan, D. D., LL. D., archbishop of Philadelphia and metropolitan of Pennsylvania, and one of the great archbishops on the American continent, passed peacefully into eternity at the archiepiscopal residence adjoining the cathedral.

For weeks the prelate, who would have been 89 years old had he lived until the 20th of this month, fought off death, but a weak heart, enfeebled by the arduous duties of his office, could not stand the strain.

At dawn Saturday the fatal change came and he slowly lost ground. At noon it was thought he was about to breathe his last, but he rallied, only to again lapse into a sinking spell. The four attending physicians, who had been resorting to artificial means to keep their patient alive, whispered that the end was not far off. About this time the archbishop roused himself and murmured the dying words of St. Paul: "I wish to be dissolved and be with Christ."

An hour later messengers hurried out to summon priests who were hearing confessions in the cathedral. Fr. Kavanaugh, the archbishop's secretary, began the prayers for the dying, and the priests, kneeling about the deathbed, intoned the responses.

The archbishop's mind for a moment cleared sufficiently at about 4 o'clock to comprehend the significance of the scene, and with the words "God bless you" on his lips he sank back. His breathing became fainter, and Dr. Devereaux of Washington, one of his nephews, who had been in constant attendance, leaned over the prelate and then held up his hand. "It is all over," was all he said.

Archbishop Ryan was born in 1831, in Tipperary county, Ireland, and received his early education at his home village near Thurles and at Dublin until he was 16 years old, when he entered Carlow college.

In 1852 he came to this country and became connected with the archdiocese of St. Louis. When he reached the age of 21 he was appointed professor of English literature at the Carroll college, Missouri, and was ordained deacon with the privilege of speaking in the St. Louis cathedral.

In September, 1855, he was ordained priest and made assistant pastor of the cathedral, which position he filled until 1856, when he was chosen rector. In 1860 he was transferred to the Annunciation church, where he remained for twelve years. During the Civil war he acted as chaplain of a military hospital and prison of the Confederate forces.

He was consecrated coadjutor bishop of St. Louis in 1872 and while visiting Rome in 1884 was given the honorary title of "Archbishop of Salamis" by Pope Leo XIII.

On June 8, 1884, Archbishop Ryan was removed from St. Louis to Philadelphia to fill the position made vacant by the death of Archbishop Wood.

The prelate was known throughout the country and at the time of his death was the oldest archbishop in this country. He was well known as an orator, wit, a lover of children and a man much sought for in matters of trouble between labor unions and organizations.

During the Philadelphia car strikes and the strike of the Pennsylvania miners, Archbishop Ryan took an active part. He was prominently mentioned as the man to be appointed cardinal in 1905 by Pope Pius X, but another was finally chosen.

Street Railway Company Rejects Proposition to Arbitrate

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 13.—Officials of the Connecticut Valley Street Railway company, for a second time, refused to submit to arbitration differences with their employees over the discharge of five men.

A committee of the union employees sent to confer with the officials so reported at a union meeting, and as a result of the report, petitions were immediately put in circulation asking Mayor Coolidge to call a special meeting of the city council tomorrow night to take action on the matter.

The council will be asked to urge arbitration upon the railway officials to prevent the threatened strike. The union also issued a long public statement defining the position of the members and stating that they are willing to submit to arbitration.

Ambassador to Germany Sidesteps
Knickerbockers at Court

Berlin, Feb. 13.—The new rules for court dress promulgated by the Kaiser's court marshal gave rise to an incident that Ambassador Hill might regard it as advisable to overcome his well known antipathy to uniforms.

It was announced that civilians who had hitherto appeared in ordinary evening dress would henceforth be required to don tight-fitting white satin knickerbockers, white silk stockings and silver buckled patent leather shoes.

Inquiry at the American embassy elicited the statement that the rules, in so far as foreign diplomats were concerned, were purely optional, and Hill and his secretaries would continue to appear in ordinary evening dress. The representatives of all other republics accredited at Berlin will wear uniforms.

New York, Feb. 13.—The Rockefeller institute for medical research announces that the effectiveness of anti-meningitis serum has generally been accepted by medical authorities throughout the world, and that the new remedy has taken its place with vaccine and diphtheria anti-toxin as an improved agency for the protection of public health.

The occasion for this announcement was the notice given by the institute that hereafter it will discontinue the free distribution of the serum carried on ever since its discovery and development by the institute.

PRAYERS OVER A WOMAN

Decision That It Is Illegal to Put Belief Into Practice When Money Is Received Therefor—Christian Scientists Will Fight Case on Ground
That Constitutional Guarantee of Religious Liberty Is Endangered

New York, Feb. 13.—William V. Cole, a Christian Science healer, who was arrested on the complaint that he practiced medicine without a license, was held for trial in special sessions by Magistrate Breschi. Cole was arrested after he had treated a woman. Upon payment of a sum of money it is alleged, Cole prayed over her and told her she would soon get well. Magistrate Breschi, in holding Cole, said:

"I am of the opinion that the treatment of disease by fraudulent prayer is a violation of the laws of this state. The Christian Scientist has the right to believe that he can heal by prayer, but I am of the opinion that if he carries and puts that belief into practice for hire then he exceeds his rights as an individual under the law and comes directly within the prohibition contained in the constitution of the state of New York."

Eugene R. Cox of the Christian Science publications committee, speaking for Christian Science practitioners in the city, said that in view of the constitutional guarantee of religious liberty, Christian Scientists were not perturbed over the developments in the Cole case. He added that Christian Scientists would fight the matter to the highest courts and were confident of winning.

Part of the magistrate's decision touches directly on the question of religious liberty as emphasized by Cox. "It is of course true," says the magistrate, "that the state constitution grants to every person freedom of conscience in matters of religion; but, on the other hand, it specifically provides that the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of this state."

"The public health and treatment of disease are matters of great public concern to all states and the subject of proper regulation in the exercise of the police powers."

MEXICAN TROOPS BEATEN

Mexicali Recaptured by Rebels After A Severe Battle

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 13.—Official government advices received here are to the effect that the Mexican federal troops have suffered severe defeat at Mexicali, where a battle raged for thirty-six hours.

Mexicali, Mex., Feb. 13.—General Simon Herboland and his band of insurgents recaptured Mexicali. The Mexican officials hurriedly crossed the American side. Herboland later crossed the American line and held a conference with Captain Babcock of the United States troops, stationed just across the border in Calexico county.

According to this message the rebel forces lost but two men, while the federal forces are described as numerous. Many of the dead soldiers were left lying on the field. The federal outnumbers the rebels.

THE ARNOLD MYSTERY

No Light Shed by Return of Girl's
Mother and Brother

New York, Feb. 13.—The end of the mysterious story of Dorothy Arnold has by no means been reached. The romantic turn given it by George S. Griscom, Jr., by his expressed confidence that she is alive, and by his quoted intention of marrying her, if possible, was given a contrary twist by the arrival home from Europe of the missing girl's mother and brother.

In reply to two direct questions Mrs. Arnold denied even circumstantial knowledge whether her daughter was dead or alive and emphatically declared that she had not consented to a marriage between the girl and Griscom. Her son said the father had given up the search, having exhausted every means they knew of.

CROPSY AND FLYNN CLASH

Fall Out Over Assignments in Gotham's Black Hand Cases

New York, Feb. 13.—There's a temper in the police department, all because of a clash between Police Commissioner Cropsy and Deputy Commissioner Flynn, head of the detective bureau.

Chief Flynn left the federal secret service to head the latest detective bureau and has been active in breaking up Black Hand gangs.

The trouble started when Flynn refused point blank to give Cropsy a list of the men he had on secret assignments and the nature of their work. Flynn told Cropsy that this would result in nothing short of bodily harm to some of his men, not to mention the possible frustration of his plans to corral the blackmailers, kidnapers and other criminals.

Cropsy maintained that as head of the department he was entitled to the information. His deputy replied that his appointment to the head of the detective bureau was a personal matter with Mayor Gaynor and that he accepted the appointment with the understanding that he was to have carte blanche and was not to be interfered with in his detective work.

QUEUE ISSUE IN CHINA

Newspapers Compare Wearers With Dogs and Other Animals

Peking, Feb. 13.—A curious agitation significant of the times is going on throughout China with regard to the queue. The pigtail is being ridiculed by all progressives as an emblem indicative of backwardness, distinguishing the Chinese from all other civilized peoples.

Cartoons appear regularly in the newspapers showing the advantage of the queue to the assistant of the headman in the act of decapitating a criminal or depicting the various other animals that wear the tail, the dog and the pig being in the foreground. Editorials denounce the custom and new groups of men and associations are daily falling into the line of reform.

STATE DEPARTMENT ASSAILED BY JUDGE

Says Our Policy in Central America Is Winning Hatred

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Judge Lorin C. Collins, for more than five years an associate justice of the Canal Zone supreme court, criticized the state department of the United States, saying it was pursuing a policy in Central American republics which was winning for itself the hatred of all Spanish-speaking nations, was being made the victim of a malign influence, and was gaining the reputation of a country which "raises its arm to strike, but hasn't the courage to give the blow."

Judge Collins, after relating a series of incidents within his own observation which, he said, were specific instances that this government's representatives were being insulted and affronted in the tropics, without apology or reparation, said the American hopes of increased trade from that territory would not materialize.

HOLDS POLICE AT BAY

Negro Refuses to Surrender Until Ammunition Is Exhausted

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—Barricaded behind a pile of cotton bales on a pier at the foot of Chestnut street, an alleged highwayman held a squad of policemen at bay here until his ammunition was exhausted. The hesitated man, a powerfully built negro, was charged with attacking Robert Warren, a watchman, and beating him severely.

Police who came to his rescue were fired upon by the watchman's assailant. Finally, by raising their helmets on stalks, they drew the man's fire and caused him to waste his ammunition. The police then rushed the imprisoned felon and took the man into custody. He gave his name as Robert Johnson. He was held without bail to answer a charge of highway robbery.

GET $10,000 IN GEMS

Cracksmen Rifle Safe in a Boston
Jewelry Store

Boston, Feb. 13.—Nearly $10,000 worth of jewelry was taken from the safe in the store of Philip Rabin, 323 Tremont street, early Sunday morning, by robbers, who left behind them nothing in the shape of a clue, except a set of carpenter's tools.

A common jimmy was used to cut a hole in the rear of the safe. Then the cement was drilled through and a carpenter's bit used in a bitstock to cut through the wood in the rear of the safe. All the goods were taken out, except a tray containing thirty-six watches, which was left with some other plated jewelry.

A PRESSING NEED

Of late, the Portsmouth navy yard has so obtruded its great wealth and resources upon the dilatory consciousness of the powers that be, that the old-time discrimination which so hindered the development of the yard has, we fondly believe, practically become a thing of the past.

A recent case of injustice to the yard, however, smacks much of the former attitude of the authorities when they had ungrounded prejudices against it. The recently advertised bids for the construction of two revenue cutters were asked from every yard of importance on the coast but Portsmouth, which has proved, none more amply, its ability to build such vessels.

Protest at this flagrant slight having availed nothing, there is yet time for compensation in a measure for this disappointment. In the matter of tugs the Portsmouth yard has been distressingly neglected since the Sloux was adroitly appropriated by another yard and the Nezinecot was lost, as is easily evident from the fact that merchant tugs are unfailingly brought into requisition when work of importance is to be done on the water front.

The authorization of the construction of a tug, in size between the Patapasco and Pensacook at this yard, if made immediately, would be no more than a fair recognition of the ability of the shipwrights here, as well as of a most pressing need of the station.

BIRDS EYE VIEWS

The Elks seem to be making themselves herd in a social way.

More freaky weather. At this rate Tuesday will be a comic Valentine's day.

If the prestige of the General Electric company counts for aught, New York is also the Ampere state.

This Mexican vaudeville show is getting monotonous; in fact it is now a W-T-Sherman of a lot like an old story.

Most people would rather go without eating for a few days than eight, and would think that they were going some then, if not actually fast.

A ship from Africa is reported as reaching New York with an egg four hundred years old, which we should presume would be sufficient cargo for one crew to manage.

When you go to the San Francisco Panama exposition in 1915 shall you cross the country by rail, or go by the way of the Panama canal? solicitously inquires the Boston Globe. To tell the truth, we had planned on making the trip as the crow flies.

Moscow University is to be closed for a fortnight because of student disorders. The severity of such a punishment is inconceivable.

A sneezing match in Pennsylvania was won by one Park Shaw, but it is strongly suspected that he took an unfair advantage by repeating his own name rapidly.

Howard Chandler Christy, fresh from well aired marital difficulties, was probably just in the mood to do justice to his "Bill of San Juan bill" for an encyclopedia.

The Governor has and Governor Tener pan is now so well worn that joke artists who wish to perpetrate further variations are advised to duct solo that they won't be heard.

The Illinois Central is shipping snow in cars from its Chicago yards to warm Kentucky, as the cheapest way of disposing of it. That the blue grass will thrive on anything so insipid as melted snow is not generally believed.

From the days of the stately sailing ships such romantic names as Storm King and Ocean Monarch have come down to the prosaic merchant marine of today, to be bestowed with variations and doubtful aptitude upon grimy barges; as Cal King and Sand King. If development of further possibilities of names along this line is sought we would suggest Mud King and Garbage King.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

The Boy Scouts

The election of Mr. Henry L. Higginson as president of the Boy Scout Movement, backed by an executive council of prominent citizens, ensures that this effort to make boys better will go along in Boston on sane and practical lines and deserves to be encouraged.

The Boy Scout Movement, as originally conceived in England, threatened to spread ideas of militarism among growing boys, but under its improved form it aims to train boys in self reliance, politeness and the science of clean and orderly living. In addition, there are many things the Boy Scout idea will accomplish. While children are being educated to be good citizens they can also be used to give education to others; for example, the children of aliens can be taught to speak English and give them necessary information as to our country, its form of government, etc. In this work the ideals of manliness and honesty taught by the Scouts will bear good fruit.

Another extension of the Boy Scout Movement, which aims to make the Boy Scouts auxiliaries in the fight for better health and to remove some of the pests which now annoy mankind, among which are the sparrows and the rats, has met with favor in England. The sparrow is a scrappy pest, which not only drives away the insect grub eating birds, but has done much to lessen the number of song birds that find it almost impossible to live in the same locality with the sparrows. Rats are known to spread plague and other diseases of the most dreadful character, and the Boy Scouts in England are being encouraged to work in the extermination of these pests by awarding prizes for the number of sparrows and rats destroyed.

When boys are taught to discriminate between winged nuisances like the sparrows and nature's blessings like the song birds and to fear and

Profession of Manufacturing

THE manufacturing business is fast becoming a science. It is no longer a simple matter of buying, assembling and selling things. It makes exhaustive demands on every intellectual faculty and has a dignity on a par with the professions.

The manufacturer figures costs as an engineer would estimate strains.

The manufacturer must study raw material as the chemist works in his laboratory.

The manufacturer must use practical psychology in winning trade just as a politician uses human nature in getting votes.

The manufacturer masters the idea of organization as a general masters his forces.

The manufacturer studies style as an artist does form and color.

The manufacturer practices the golden rule with his customer as the minister preaches the gospel.

The manufacturer's best friend, his closest confidant, his most trusted adviser, his most valued helper, is the advertising man—not any old advertising man, but the advertising man who knows his business, whose calibre and experience and integrity measures up to his own.

destroy disease breeders, it will later be easy to extend this education to other ways to fight diseases, and in due time the Boy Scouts may extend their efforts until they can be made an auxiliary health fighting force of the greatest value to the nation.—Boston Herald.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Editor Herald:—

A petition is being signed here to forbid New Hampshire residents from catching lobsters in Maine waters unless they reside here for a year, then to pay one dollar for a license to fish for lobsters in Maine.

Now I would like to say a few words in regard to this. We have in Maine hundreds of miles of territory to fish in and room for all, while just over in New Hampshire they have only 16 miles of sea coast, and we have fished their territory to a finish. Let the New Hampshire lobster catchers have fair play.

When the Pilgrims landed the In-Hampshire lobsterman "keep off the Grass." So we say to the New Hampshire lobsterman "keep off the lobster grounds" unless you will come over here and vote and help swell the Maine treasury.

The protection of the lobster by the state laws is a farce on the face of it. One statute has a legal length of a inch and the other 1 1/2. The government spends thousands of dollars yearly to keep the supply good, but under the present laws it is money thrown away. Now as I have fished from the Cape of Florida to the rock-bound coast of Maine and up to the Arctic zone I know what I am talking about.

The more laws the state makes in regard to fishing the more Democrats they make, and have made them in the past year. The fisherman has all he can do to live now. He puts two dollars in the water in the form of lobster pots and takes out one dollar's worth of lobsters and when he dies he leaves an old dory and a pair of red jack boots. He doesn't leave any house, the grocery man owns that, and the fish dealer owns his boat and gear, and who? No protection from Uncle Sam whatever, while in Canada, the fishermen receive a bounty from the five million we gave them some few years ago for a fishing privilege.

We are a class of men who only ask for a chance to live and not be harassed to death by a lot of laws that are made by a lot of farmers and dealers to further their own ends, who don't know the first rudiments of the fishing business.

And now we can't fish, there is so much ice that we have to take observations every day as Dr. Cook did at the pole with a bull eye lantern and pan of molasses.

Editor Herald:—

I note an article in your paper of Feb. 10 signed "Justice."

He thinks he should be granted as much as one who has devoted all his life to a corporation. The conductor on steam roads has to put in 20 or 25 years before he is made conductor; he has to pass through several positions before he can be a conductor, and then only after passing a very rigid examination which takes all day to do.

You, Mr. Justice, like the rest of your street men, served two or three days, and then call yourselves conductors in every sense of the word. Possibly you are, but most any boy can fill the position, or at least try to.

The last two of the resolutions were telegraphed this morning to the chairman of the national senate to be turned over to the committee on postoffice affairs. The various divisions of the association are to be furnished with printed copies.

PATRIOTISM.

Breathes there the man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land—
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burn'd
As home his footsteps he hath turn'd
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well!
For him no minstrel raptures swell.
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim—
Despite those titles, power and peer,
The wretch, concentered all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown
And, doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust from whence he sprung
Unwept, unhonored and unsung.
—Sir Walter Scott.

Names in Samos.

Travelers visiting Samos are puzzled at first by the fact that many boys bear feminine names, while girls as frequently have masculine names. The visitor learns after awhile, however, that this confusing use of names is in reality the result of a native custom which is highly poetic. Thus if a girl is born soon after the death of a brother the latter's name is given to her in the belief that his spirit and all his good qualities have been transferred to her. On the other hand, if a boy is born after the death of a sister he takes the latter's name and, as the Samians believe, all her lovable traits become his.—London Globe.

Diameter of the Silo.

The size of the silo must, of course, depend on the amount of stock to be fed, as a certain amount must be fed each day to keep the top layer from spoiling. Narrow and deep is the right construction, and the deeper the better, as each added foot gives added weight to the silage and helps to make it more solid and exclude the air. To insure long service wooden silos should be lathed and plastered or bricked on the inside. This keeps the silage from coming in contact with the wood and does not permit of that wetting and drying which soon decay the wood. If a silo is made too large in diameter, and this is a very frequent error, one of two things will happen—either the silage will be moldy all the time, owing to the inability to feed it down rapidly enough, or else the cows will be fed more than they should have in an attempt to eat some of the molding.

Thackeray on the Hustings.

Talking of Thackeray and his efforts to get into Parliament, Grant Duff in his diary under the year 1875 notes the predicament of the novelist when he faced the electors.

"He [J. R. Green] gave me the most remarkable account of canvassing Oxford with Thackeray, whose want of power of public speaking seems to have been perfectly extraordinary. On the hustings he utterly broke down, and Green heard him say to himself, 'If I could only go into the mayor's parlor for five minutes I could write this out quite well.'" for money.

The answer made by Henry M. Baker, Executor, and the Directors of the Church, and filed February 4th, describes the church as the Mother church and says it has 50,000 members and more than 1200 branches, widely distributed, and then proceeds:

"It is one of the doctrines of Christian Science as taught by said Mary Baker G. Eddy, and a part of the religious belief and practice of the members of said Mother Church, as well as of all other members of the Christian Science denomination, that sin, suffering, disease and distress can be, and are, relieved and overcome by the divine power of God invoked through prayer as taught by and practiced in, primitive Christianity."

"The fundamental purpose for which said church was established and exists, namely, the promotion of the doctrines of Christian Science, is essentially charitable, the objects sought to be furthered by such promotion being the furtherance and spreading of religion, the spiritual education of mankind, and the relief and overcoming of sin, suffering, disease and distress."

These questions do not appear to have been raised by Mr. Glover in the bill in equity, but are distinctly raised for the first time in the litigation by the executor and the church. The bill does not undertake to state or put in issue the principles of the religion of Christian Science and makes no statement about them. The answer puts them directly in issue, subject to the taking of testimony argument and decision.

It seems now to be Mr. Glover's opportunity, if he desires it to meet the issue made against him by the Church and upon its invitation to secure a court decision of the questions—What is Christian Science? Is it a religion? Is it a charity, giving but not taking, or is it in law merely a band of practitioners taking money for trying to cure a disease?

Without regard to the motive of the Church for bringing into the financial litigation for decision these questions the public will be glad that they are raised in court and are to receive judicial exposition.

The Postoffice, The Popular Magazines and The People

A provision has been added to the Postoffice Appropriation Bill by the Senate Postoffice Committee without proper notice or public hearing. It provides for an unjust, discriminatory and confiscatory tax on the popular magazines. By attaching this provision to the Postoffice Appropriation Bill at the eleventh hour, all opportunity for open discussion and consideration by the people, the publishers and the Senate was out off. It was an un-American, star chamber proceeding accomplished under Presidential and political coercion.

If this bill is passed, with the provision which practically exempts from taxation magazines which have not spoken boldly on public questions many of the popular periodicals will be put out of business altogether, and the others, without exception, will be seriously crippled.

Even if it were possible for the magazines to continue in business under these new conditions, the people would derive no benefit from the measure; for until the Postoffice Department is taken out of politics, and a business like management installed, it is improbable that any additional revenue collected will be used economically.

We urge every friend of honest politics, economical government and a free press to telegraph or write an immediate protest to their Senators and Representatives.

CAN'T RAISE SUNKEN CRANE AT CHARLESTOWN

The wrecking company which has been at work for some weeks at the Charlestown navy yard, endeavoring to raise the crane that sank some months ago, has abandoned the job and removed all apparatus.

The crane is built of iron, and is flat bottomed. With its derricks, it is so heavy that when it sank great battleship chains, the heaviest made, snapped like pipe stems. It is feared that there are several holes in the bottom of the crane.

McCRAY-HUSSEY

Lee H. McCray, general manager of the Atlantic Shore railway, and Miss M. Frances Hussey of Kennebunk, were married Friday evening in Boston, and the announcement came as a complete surprise to even members of the family. The ceremony was a quiet affair, unattended and characterized by simplicity.

It was performed in the Union Congregational church by Rev. Mr. Lang. Mr. McCray had gone to Boston, presumably on a business trip, and Miss Hussey had also gone to the city, presumably for the same reason. Not a suspicion was entertained by anybody of the event that was to take place.

On the return of Mr. and Mrs. McCray and the announcement of their wedding they were warmly congratulated and received the best wishes of many friends.

Mr. McCray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron H. McCray of Oskosh, Wis., and has lived in Maine about three years, where he has been connected with the electric railway business in various important capacities. He is recognized as a thorough railroad man, as his rapid advancement in the work attests.

Mrs. McCray is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay D. Hussey. She has lived the greater part of her life in Kennebunk where she obtained her education in the town's schools, being a graduate of Kennebunk high school. She has many friends and acquaintances in the town who extend hearty and sincere congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. McCray will take up their residence in Kennebunk.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Services at St. John's Episcopal Church on Sunday were conducted by the rector, the Rev. Harold Morrill Folsom. In his forenoon sermon the rector spoke of the Christian joy and gladness which Jesus Christ gave the world and the need of all to seek and cultivate it.

"Christian Toil" was the subject of the evening sermon, the rector taking as his text, "Why stand ye all the day idle?" St. Matt. xx-6. Miss Sara Folsom rendered as an offertory solo, "My God, My Father, While I Stray," by Marston.

The usual session of the Sunday School was held in the chapel at the noon hour.

The postponed monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday at 3 p. m. in St. John's chapel. Important business will be transacted at this meeting and a good attendance is hoped for.

On Monday evening, Feb. 20 a meeting of the women of the parish will be held in the chapel to form an altar guild and a visiting guild. The visiting guild will be divided into two branches, the members of the first branch to make calls on the new comers in the parish, and members of the other branch to call on the sick and the "shut-ins." This is an opportunity for Christian sympathy and activity in which all of this parish should be interested.

VETERAN OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT LEAVES THE FORCE

Morris Tobin, one of the oldest men in point of service in the fire department, has resigned. Morris has been connected with the department thirty years as a member of Engine Number 3, and his retirement is owing to his health.

During this long period of service no more faithful man could be found in the ranks of the local firemen. Besides his work of fire fighting he took great interest in all affairs of the department, especially those of the old Kearsarge.

In every move for the betterment of his company he labored early and late and took great pride in anything undertaken and carried out by his associate firemen. He had the esteem and respect of every man in the city's fire brigade and will be greatly missed in the department.

SOME RATES WILL BE RAISED

Boston & Maine To Equalize Reductions Made Necessary By Court Decree

"We shall be forced to increase some of our New Hampshire rates to equalize the reductions made necessary by the decree of the New Hampshire supreme court," declared Edgar J. Rich, attorney in charge of the legal affairs of the Boston and Maine and New Haven railroads, commenting on the opinion of Chief Justice Parsons of New Hampshire.

"In anticipation of the decision given by the court," continued Attorney Rich, "we asked the New Hampshire legislature to give us relief by repealing the acts of 1883 and 1889, which laid rates on the leased lines affected by consolidation should not be increased.

"We won in some of the cases and lost in a majority of the others. There will be no appeal to a higher court. We are content to accept the ruling of the state court. The rates that are higher than in 1883 and 1889 will be reduced.

"The important rates affecting New Hampshire's industry and commerce are lower than the rates reduced by the legislature. These and other rates, which are much lower than required by the legislative acts, will be the ones affected by the rate increase."

NAVY YARD

Will Use Mixed Paints

It has been decided to have the bureau of construction and repair hereafter issue paints already mixed in cans ready for use on board ship. It has been found that the paints can be mixed more efficiently and economically at navy yards, where there are facilities for the work, better than as has been the case hitherto, issuing the component materials and doing the mixing on board ship, where the work must be done by hand and necessarily less accurate as to proportions than when it is done by machinery at a navy yard.

Changes In Docking Schedule

It has been found necessary to make a slight change in the schedule of the docking of some of the ships of the Atlantic fleet, and the Louisiana, Kansas, and New Hampshire will be docked at Norfolk in advance of the rest of the fleet, because it is necessary to turn over dock No. 3 to the contractor, who will proceed to lengthen the structure. It was not expected that the contractor would have made sufficient progress to render this necessary, but it is desired to facilitate the work to the greatest possible extent, and, inasmuch as the ships will be in Hampton Roads at the time, they will be docked at the Norfolk yard some twenty days in advance of the date originally intended. The North Dakota, which was scheduled to be docked at Norfolk, will be docked, instead, at the Boston navy yard at the regular time, which is after target practice has been held.

More Prisoners at Concord
Warden Scott of the New Hampshire state prison at Concord, had two more naval prisoners turned over to him last week. Two men were members of the Atlantic fleet from the receiving ship Franklin, now in Norfolk navy yard. One of them is sentenced to serve five years and the other ten.

Midshipmen Dropped

For failure at their recent semi-annual examinations, 37 midshipmen have been dropped from the rolls of the naval academy at Annapolis. The recommendation of the academic board to that effect was approved by Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop Sunday. Of the boys who failed, three were in the first class, eight in the second, five in the third and 21 in the fourth.

Prisoners Will Not Make the Bags

The navy department has declined to establish more convict labor at Boston navy yard and has disapproved of the recommendation coming from that yard to have the prisoners make coal bags for the navy. The department thinks it would be an economical scheme as well as a benefit to the convicts in the matter of health, but fears the outcry that would go out on the part of mechanics and labor organizations on convict labor to the detriment of sailmakers and other workmen of the yard.

On Court Martial Duty

Major Henry Leonard, U. S. M. C., is now acting as judge advocate in the court martial proceedings at Philadelphia against Lieut. William L. Burchfield, U. S. M. C., on a charge of alleged non-payment of debts. The other members of the court are Colonels Littleton, W. T. Waller and George Barnett, Lieutenant Colonels Franklin J. Moses and John A. Lejeune and Captains Randolph C. Berkeley and Harry R. Lay of the marine corps; and Lieutenant Chas. R. Train and Passed Assistant Surgeon Harry L. Brown of the navy.

Vessel Movements

Arrived—Vestal, Vulcan and Hector at Guantanamo, Arctura at Port Arthur, Tex., Maryland at Tiburon, West Virginia at San Francisco, Ajax at Boston. Sailed—Bailey and Tecumseh, from Washington for mouth of Potomac; Paulding, Roe and Drayton from Key West for Pensacola; Ajax from Boston for Hampton Roads; Paulding, Roe and Drayton, from Key West for Pensacola; Tecumseh, from Washington for mouth of the Potomac; Tingey and De Long, from Charleston for Newbern, N. C.; Dolphin, from Port au Prince for Guantanamo.

The Prairie has been ordered to proceed from Charleston, S. C., to Boston. Upon completion of repairs on the Michigan and South Carolina at the navy yard, Norfolk, Va., the vessels will proceed to Guantanamo bay, Cuba, to rejoin the Atlantic fleet.

A Few More Going On

One wireman, one all around machinist, (machinery division) and two sailmakers were called today.

Resigns From Academy

Morton L. Ring of this city, a member of the fourth class at the naval academy, has voluntarily resigned.

Cost Big Money

In an effort to secure for construction at this yard the naval collier Jupiter, which congress three years ago authorized built in a government navy yard on the Pacific coast, the estimates for the construction of the ship have been again revised, and this week the navy department was notified that Mare Island could construct the ship for $1,200,000. This is $200,000 in excess of the $1,000,000 limit of cost placed upon it two years ago, when Cramps' yard offered to build it for less than $900,000. The Mare Island officials stipulate that the overhead charges should consist solely of expenses incident to the building of the ship, and not include running expenses of the yard, as was formerly done in submitting a bid.

FIREGRAPHS

The correspondent of the Sunday Globe say one of the important questions to come before the city council this year is a new central fire station; also a new ladder truck is recommended, both are badly needed, but I think they will be the least of the council's troubles this year.

As the city fathers are famous in taking over old buildings I would suggest the old almshouse as a central station. The fire apparatus might as well be bunched there as anywhere. Morris Tobin has withdrawn from the department after 20 years' service and should be a beneficiary of the firemen's pension act.

That thousand feet of hose has arrived and looks good and we hope it will prove so, but the facilities for washing hose are very poor. I think it would be a good idea for the mayor and committee on fire department and city lands and buildings to inspect the several stations. Perhaps they would see some need of improvements. The men at the central station could give them a few points. OLD FIREMAN.
